AMATEUR STAGE

'Mr. Pim Passes By' was a well rehearsed production

BACKSTAGE during an interval of Christ Church Amateur Dramatic Society's production of "Mr. Pim Passes By" I was told how much television can interfere with rehearsals.

It is not easy to get everyone together when there is a good programme on either of the channels.

This I must say surprised me, for "Mr. Pim Passes By" had all the hallmarks of being most painstakingly rehearsed.

There were no slips of memory at the performance I saw. The dialogue was as natural as one could wish for and the pace well regulated.

I am told that the society has not a great many people to draw upon to appear on the stage and that makes casting not easy.

NEWCOMERS PLEASE

But there were no square pegs in round holes in "Mr. Pim." Four of the seven in the cast were newcomers. Their excellent showing augurs well for the future.

The society resisted all temptations to bring A. A. Milne's comedy up-to-date. They played it in the 1920 setting of the original and that added to the charm of the play.

My only quibble with the show —one which is often cropping up —is that when tea or coffee has to be drunk on the stage it is no use giving the players empty cups. It never looks right.

DELIGHTFULLY PLAYED

Making their debut with the society were Daphne Young as Olivia, the "wife" whose first husband seems to be returning from the dead. Brenda Warfield, as Dinah, delightfully played in every way, Beryl Giles, as austere Lady Marden, and Brian Anwell as Brian, a pleasant young artist in love with Dinah.

Fred Gorringe was accurately cast as George Marden, a country gentleman with a marked sense of right and wrong, and John Moir was Mr. Pim, whose bumble-headed intervention into the family circle caused a major rumpus, but actually smoothed away the opposition to the young lovers' match.

Janet Turner was Anne, the maid.

Good solid-looking scenery considerably helped the play, ably produced by Phyllis Tunstall.

MEMBERSHIP PASSES 1,000 MARK

Scouting in Gravesend area is thriving

TOTAL strength of the Gravesend and District Boy Scouts' Association is 1,033—an increase of 69 over the membership last year.

This was reported by the District Commissioner, Mr. P. C. Hewett, at the annual meeting at the Town Hall on Friday, presided over by Councillor R. H. Goodwin, Deputy Mayor.

The number of Cubs had risen from 448 to 473, Scouts from 310 to 371, and there were 80 Senior Scouts—a decrease of four.

There were 99 Scouters—an increase of four.

The Rovers had been reorganised with an age limit of 23. There were 10 on the roll at present.

Mr. Hewett said the increase in the total strength of the association was satisfactory and he was confident that it was equalled by a steady increase in enthusiasm and efficiency in all sections.

The development of Scouting in the new housing estates had been the subject of considerable activity during the year. In addition to the new group at St. Aidan's, Westcourt, Gravesend, which had a thriving membership, the 5th Northfleet had recently been formed.

It was hoped it would eventually have its own headquarters on the Painters Ash Estate.

At King's Farm where there had been a Cub pack for some years, it was hoped to start a Scout group.

Ten Scouts from the district would attend the World Jamboree at Sutton Park in August and the association hoped to entertain a number of foreign Scouts after the Jamboree.

The association was to hold a good turn week. This would be followed by a Scout week and a garden fete.

The accounts showed a deficiency on the year of £63.

During the evening the Deputy Mayor received the bob-a-job receipts from representatives of the various groups.

Mr. K. N. Jarvis, hon. secretary, said these totalled £415 with receipts from two groups to come. It was likely that last year's record total of £426 would be exceeded.

Principal officers re-elected were: Chairman, Mr. J. Drust; vice-chairman, Mr. H. B. Ayliffe; hon. treasurer, Mr. R. Walker; hon. secretary, Mr. Jarvis; hon. badge secretary, Mr. F. Marven; hon. assistant secretary, Miss S. Beard.

The meeting was addressed by Mr. Donald G. Smith, until recently a Field Commissioner in Malaya. Mr. Smith, who now lives at Northfleet, is to take up work with the Gravesend Association.

BRENT WORTHY OF SENIOR STATUS

BRENTSTONIANS have well merited their elevation to senior status this season. They have won the Kent Amateur League Senior Division Cup by beating Crockenhill 4—0 and have finished second in the Kent Senior Amateur League, only a point behind Crockenhill, the champions.

By defeating Callenders Athletic 6—2 in the final league game they brought their goal average in their last five league games up to 27—3.

Tomorrow Brent Reserves meet Medway Corinthians (Gillingham) in the Kent Benevolent Cup final on the ground of Gravesend and Northfleet F.C. (3.15).

Bells will greet Gravesend's May Queen tomorrow

ALTHOUGH the usual carnival of decorated floats will not be part of tomorrow's May Queen Festival at Gravesend because of the petrol rationing, there will be a May Queen's procession over a much shortened route.

Church bells will ring as the queen, 14-years-old Margaret Rudd, and her retinue from Gordon Girls' School, walks along petal-strewn Milton Place from Holy Trinity Church to Fort Gardens.

Lads from the National Sea Training School will line the route. The queen will set off at 2.45 p.m.

Following the service of dedication, at which the Rev. A. A. Burrows will officiate, and the crowning ceremony, an elaborate programme of Maytime festivities will be held in the Gardens.

Children from Holy Trinity School will dance round maypoles, there will be folk dancing, displays by youth organisations, novelty dances and an innovation—a fancy dress competition.

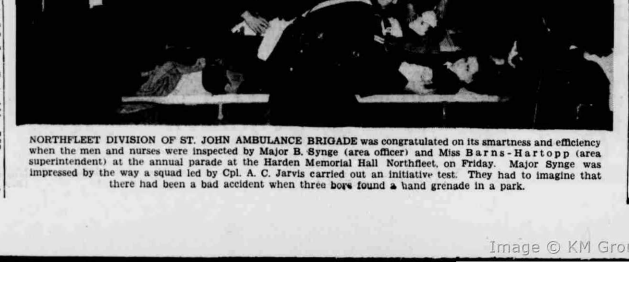
THE NURSING SECTION ALSO GAVE A DEMONSTRATION.



NORTHFLEET DIVISION OF ST. JOHN AMBULANCE BRIGADE was congratulated on its smartness and efficiency when the men and nurses were inspected by Major B. Synge (area officer) and Miss Barns-Hartopp (area superintendent) at the annual parade at the Harden Memorial Hall Northfleet, on Friday. Major Synge was impressed by the way a squad led by Cpl. A. C. Jarvis carried out an initiative test. They had to imagine that there had been a bad accident when three boys found a hand grenade in a park.

YOUTH FINED

Brian Warrington, 19, of Ingoldsby Road, was fined £5 at Dartford East Petty Sessions yesterday for a bracelet from a 15-years-old boy, knowing them to have been stolen. He pleaded guilty.

BRAVERY WHEN LINER SANK
Passing of former papermaker

THE cremation took place at Eltham, on Monday, of Mr. William Henry Jubb, aged 77, a retired papermaker, of 26, Old Road East, Gravesend, who figured prominently in the headlines of national newspapers in 1922 for his bravery and coolness when the German liner, Hammonia, foundered 80 miles off Portugal.

Only English passenger on board, he was bound for Mexico to take up a new job.

When the ship began to list in very bad weather some of the panic-stricken passengers tried to jump overboard. Mr. Jupp pulled many of them back to safety. Once he dived into the sea to rescue a baby.

CIVIC RECEPTION

Returning home after the shipwreck, he was given a civic reception at Gravesend Central Station.

An example of his work was afterwards put in New Orleans Museum.

Mr. Jupp, who had been associated with North Kent for about 30 years, leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter, Mrs. Bayldon, wife of Mr. George Bayldon, butcher, of Queen Street, Gravesend.

A NEW WAY TO IMPROVE YOUR HEARING

Thousands of people with poor hearing will welcome the news that at last there is no need to wear a Hearing Aid which can be seen by everyone, which is heavy or awkward

A minute aural aid has just been perfected which is quite featherweight and is worn completely hidden and self-contained on the head at natural hearing level. It is, in fact, out of sight and out of mind. Simply put it on in the morning and forget about it.

This revolutionary little aid, made with watch like precision, has no H.T. battery, no breakable valves, and is so very, very small that it is worn inside your spectacles, or inside your hairslide, or earette. Furthermore it is suitable for all types of faulty hearing and can be worn easily by people of all ages—whether at work or at play —without doubt, it is a perfect little "hidden aid."

For the benefit of local readers and by courtesy of the manufacturers, the Ardente Laboratories, arrangements are being made for the new aids to be on show at Timothy Whites & Taylors the Chemists, 25-26 High Street, Gravesend, on FRIDAY, MAY 10th, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Interested readers can then call and examine and try the aids without charge or feeling of obligation.

If due to age or sickness, any reader is unable to call will he please telephone Gravesend 378 and arrangements will be made gladly, for him to try the aids AT HOME—again without charge.
